

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

- 5 A method of constructing a lookup table for network switch includes the steps of snooping a communication channel in the network switch for lookup table information. Upon detection of lookup table information on the communication channel, the lookup table information transmitting the lookup table information to a remote system memory. This constructs a lookup table in the remote system memory.

00440400